

ABSTRACT

[0036] A system and a method of sorting performance data for one or more system configurations are provided. Performance data on multiple programs that run on at least one system is obtained. The performance data includes a profile for each program obtained from a tool. The performance data for each profile is automatically sorted to allow for comparison between the profiles.

2022-04-25T16:50